

About the seminar

Attendees at AHMC in Melbourne last year flocked to hear Dr Chaukkar's presentation on addictions and their homœopathic treatment.

It was one of the best-received papers at the conference. Through popular demand we have invited him back to tell us more. Alcohol and drug addiction is a topic not well covered in our literature, and it is becoming an increasingly familiar scenario in our practices. This is an important seminar for all practitioners.

Dr Chaukkar will build on the taste he gave us in Melbourne and present a much broader perspective of addiction. He will take us through the various stages of addiction, and how and why addictions manifest in the various groups, from children, through to teenagers, adults, professionals the aged and others. He will also share with us several cases of his own.

Homœopathic aspects will be covered: miasms and predisposition; maintaining causes; acute/constitutional prescribing and obstacles to cure. Indicated medicines will be covered in depth. We will also be able to understand why he has chosen to specialise in this fascinating, difficult and international problem.

Whatever the drug of choice, specific homœopathic medicines can be useful in all phases of addiction, withdrawal and recovery, and it has been demonstrated that holistic approaches yield the best outcomes. From detoxification to rehabilitation, Dr Chaukkar identifies three main stages to recovery. He will discuss the treatment and management of each, which he has gleaned through years of working in a homœopathic drug rehabilitation unit.

For the recovering addict Dr Chaukkar presents a holistic approach accompanied by a professional treatment plan, which can be effective well beyond the initial recovery stage.

Time permitting, Dr Chaukkar will also present an overview of another subject close to his heart – autism and its homœopathic treatment and management.

About the presenter

CHAUKKAR

Dr Samir Chaukkar graduated in homœopathy in 1992 from the prestigious Smt. CMP Homeopathic Medical College affiliated to the University of Mumbai. He did his post graduation in homœopathy from The British Institute of Homeopathy, UK. He is also an honorary Fellow of the British Institute of Homeopathy. Since graduation he has been practising classical homœopathy. His keen interest in addictions and homœopathy led him to pursue further studies in the prevention and treatment of addictions at Georgian College in Orillia, Ontario, Canada.

He completed his MD in Homœopathy from YMT Homœopathic Medical College and PG Institute, Navi Mumbai in 2005, and is attached to both institutions as a Professor and Head of Dept of Materia Medica. A popular presenter at national and international conferences, he has covered such topics as the role of homœopathy in addictions, developmental and learning disorders in children such as autism, ADHD etc, autoimmune diseases such as vitiligo and psoriasis, asthma, CFS, PCOS, and others.

Specialising in alcohol and drug addiction he has treated the full spectrum of those and other cases at his clinic in Bombay through homœopathy and counselling, as well as addicts' families.

He is also a visiting senior counsellor at the Kripa Foundation, an NGO dealing with the treatment of chemical dependents. He owns a homœopathic pharmacy and multi speciality clinic at Vashi, Navi Mumbai.

The AHA is proud to present
