HOW TO BUILD AND PROMOTE YOUR ONLINE PRACTICE

Mary Greensmith

Mary Greensmith has spent the last five years living on a boat and sailing in the Med whilst having a busy homoeopathic practice. Working online gives you total flexibility with your clients and allows you to build a perfect work life balance. Creating a community and building an international client base is rather different than seeing people in the comfort of your own clinic. In this coaching session we will talk about:

- The advantages of having an online business
- Removing any limiting beliefs that stop you building a profitable business
- How to improve your conversation techniques on open forums
- How to grow an online community
- Building a specialist/niche group and the reasons why to do this
- Easy ways to collect emails for your email list and why this is so important for the longevity of your prosperous business
- How to compose emails that bring in more consultations
